Design Manager Construction

Description

Design Manager Construction Kent

Up to £92,500 plus Benefits & Profit Share

Due to their continued success in the education and health care sector, our client a long-established traditional contractor is looking to recruit a Senior Design Manager to expand their operations.

You will currently be fulfilling a Design Manager role with a contractor and have a minimum of 5 years' experience in the technical co-ordination of Design & Build projects, both pre and post-contract, with project values up to £50m in value.

This is a challenging and exciting career opportunity offering excellent long-term prospects. Acting as a crucial focal point for Architects, Engineers, Consultants and sub-contractors, you will be responsible for the buildability of cost-effective designs, co-coordinating the information flow and have the ability to take the design apart and critique where necessary. Previous experience of two stage design & build projects would be advantageous.

To meet this exciting challenge, the successful candidate must have highly developed design skills, gained in the UK on building projects of similar values, £10million plus. A strong understanding of value engineering is essential, combined with the latest design management techniques and technology.

The above package assumes a basic of up to £85,000 plus a generous car/travel allowance, private health care, pension and in addition company profit share scheme.
