M & E Manager

Description

French Speaking M&E Manager – Building Services – Residential – France

O.T.E between 100,000 Euros & 120,000 Euros + Relocation Assistance

This is a unique and challenging opportunity for a M&E Manager to join a boutique property developer, who are expanding their portfolio within the Provence region.

Our client provides a turn-key service to a gilt-edged client base of ultra-high net worth individuals, operating within the Super Prime Residential sector.

As part of their continued growth, they require an accomplished M&E Manager to join their small but highly professional delivery team.

Candidates must be professionally qualified in building services, with either a mechanical or an electrical background and have the aptitude for manage both packages independently, reporting into a Technical Director.

Strong communication skills are important and a bilingual fluency in both French and English is essential. It is likely candidates will already be living in France or have residency status as the role will be project based in Southern France.

My client will provide assistance with relocating within France and a serviced apartment during your settlement period and help with associated moving costs.

Previous experience as an M&E Manager or Building Services Co-ordinator on high end residential or hospitality led developments in Europe is essential, with individual project values in excess of 50 million Euros.

They have strong order book and have acquired other assets to increase their presence in the region and can offer long term prospects.

If you are a bilingual professional M&E Manager that is seeking a new and exciting challenge in one of the World's most scenic regions, then please upload your CV in strict confidence quoting the reference: M&E Manager JP815
