Project Manager

Description

Project Manager Construction | Modular Pods | London

Basic up to £55,000 per annum + benefits package

Our client is a new and exciting name in the specialist field of modular construction. Due to their sustained growth, they are now seeking an ambitious Project Manager to oversee projects across London.

The requirement is for a Project Manager with experience ideally gained in the modular construction sector, or they would also consider someone with a good all-round knowledge of construction gained with an allied specialist contractor.

The Project Manager will be responsible for leading the delivery team throughout the project, from planning, through to coordination of contractors, reviewing drawings, and creating/amending RAMS, logistic plans, Scope of Works, contract variations, delay/site reports, programme monitoring and weekly drop line update.

You will be an effective communicator, working closely with Tier 1 & 2 contractors, consultants and client's teams. Whilst managing from the front you will have the ability to delegate and use external resources when required.

Excellent long-term career prospects within an expanding business can be offered.

Applicants must hold valid health and safety certification, SMST or CITB recognised and have a good knowledge of Health and Safety, Risk and CDM regulations.

Please apply below to Jamie Pearson quoting reference: Project Manager – JP808 or alternatively upload your CV in strict confidence through our website.
